

Dr. Jong Woo Kang

Asian Development Bank (ADB)

Jong Woo Kang is principal economist at the Economic Research and Cooperation Department of the Asian Development Bank (ADB).

He is a seasoned economist with extensive knowledge and experiences on policy and strategic issues.

He started his career in the Ministry of Finance of Korea in 1993 and went through various positions there, including director, senior deputy director and deputy director. He specialized in debt management, supervision of treasury bond market, FDI and other macro and micro economic policies and their implementation.

Since joining the ADB in 2006, he worked in Office of Regional Economic Integration, Strategy and Policy Department and Economic Research and Cooperation Department and conducted various research and policy projects on regional integration and inclusive growth, including production of free trade agreement manual, management of performance-based allocation of Asian Development Fund and support for ASEAN+3 process.

From 2011 to 2014, he was Senior Advisor to the Managing Director General of the ADB. He has got BA from Seoul National University in economics in 1989 and MA in public administration in 1991 respectively. He has got his Ph.D. from University of Washington in 2002 in international economics and his dissertation paper was published in Journal of Development Economics in 2005.

He is married with two daughters.