

Dr. Duk-Rak Lee

Vice President of Corporate Project Management Department
POSCO, Korea

Dr. Duk-Lak Lee is senior vice president in charge of Corporate Project Management Department at POSCO. Dr. Lee has been with POSCO over 30 years, serving in such influential roles as a researcher in wire rods area and a R&D Planning group leader. Dr. Lee was an adjunct professor at the Graduate Institute of Ferrous Technology at POSTECH, and also was a visiting researcher at McGill University in Canada. In the current executive role, Dr. Lee is responsible for planning, championing, and empowering corporate innovation initiatives. He is developing diverse approaches and methodologies to stimulate all staff to suggest creative projects and is supporting the projects to produce significant business results. Dr. Lee's team also empowers shop floor engineers to continuously bring innovation to their work, and facilities and equipments they are responsible for.